Staff Review (board game edition) by Callum Carr

Ticket to Ride is my favorite board game! Like many games, you win by scoring the most points. To do that, you must collect train cards to lay down your tracks and connect major cities, creating a network of rails. Ticket to Ride can be both fast-paced and cut-throat, or chill and relaxing. You can play nice and safe, building only the tracks you need to, or you can block other people, forcing them to build circuitous routes and waste their tracks, making it harder for them to complete their goals. However you play, you are sure to have fun and get a lot better at American geography.
